Tombeau Lake Children Catherine Research June to November 2019

For Patrick Tombeau, Saline, MI

Prepared by Jane E. Wilcox

22 November 2019

Research Goal: To determine the parents of William Lake.

Prior Knowledge: William S. Lake's middle name was Seeley<sup>1</sup> (which he sometimes used as his given name) and his wife Catherine's maiden name was Rodford<sup>2</sup> or Barlom<sup>3</sup> or Batchford.<sup>4</sup> Both were likely born in New York. Pennsylvania was reported as William's birthplace a couple of times by his children much after the fact. The 1850 and 1860 U.S. censuses taken while William was living both say New York.

Catherine and some of the children were baptized at the Providence United Methodist Church in Scranton. William was already a member of the church. Catherine's and the children's middle names were given at the baptism as Catharine Amanda, Mary Louisa, Frances Alwilda, John Wells, Angeline Amanda, Ines Delvin, Lucius Seeley, Percival Keen, and Emeretta. Later children's middle names were Ralph Laten and Charles Merian. These names could be clues to the origins of William.

William and Catherine first appear in the records in Lenox, Susquehanna County in 1850 and then moved about 15 miles southeast to Carbondale, Luzerne County by 1855 and then about 10 miles southwest to Dickson City by 1870. Scranton is another 6 miles southwest of Dickson City. Carbondale, Dickson City, and Scranton all lie in the Lackawanna River valley. The area in Luzerne County where they lived became Lackawanna County in 1878.

Results:

As reported in two emails, the New York death records for son Percival and daughter Ines report two more maiden names for their mother: Bosford<sup>5</sup> or Baxton.<sup>6</sup> Both report Catherine's birthplace as Ellenville, New York. Ellenville is in Ulster County and it's on the Delaware and Hudson (D&H) Canal. Percival's death record reports William's name as Seeley and Ines's death record reports his name as Edward, which is not accurate.

Because we don't know where William met Catherine, we need to look at both New York and at Pennsylvania as possible locations. I did numerous searches in the 1820, 1830, 1840, and 1850 U.S. censuses to try to verify Catherine's maiden name and then identify Catherine's family in Ellenville, Town of Wawarsing, Ulster County, and to see if there was an intersection with any Lake families. Ellenville is a village surrounded by the more rural Town of Wawarsing. They are separate jurisdictions, each with a municipal clerk.

A Thomas Botchford lived in the Town of Wawarsing from 1820 to 1840. He seems to be the best candidate for Catherine's father. He was age 26-44, living alone, and engaged in agriculture in 1820.<sup>7</sup> In 1830 he was age 50-59 and had a family with a female age 30-39 and four children from under 5 to age 14; however, he did not have a female Catherine's age (born 1822-1826) living in the household in 1830.<sup>8</sup> He did have a female age 10-14 (born 1816-1820). Thomas was age 60-69 in 1840 with a female age 40-49 and four children ages 5 to 19.<sup>9</sup> Three in the household were engaged in agriculture in 1840. By 1840 Catherine was presumably married to William Lake. Perhaps Catherine was the daughter age 10 to 14 in 1830 and her age was reported incorrectly on the 1850 and 1860 censuses. But—Catherine did not name a son Thomas or, interestingly, use Botchford as a middle name for any of her children. The age difference between Thomas and the adult female in his household in 1830 and 1840 suggests that she was perhaps a second wife (could Catherine be from the first marriage and perhaps was living with her mother’s family members in 1830?), or a first much-younger wife, or even a daughter or daughter-in-law with children who came back to live with him.

None of the middle names of William and Catherine’s children was found in the last names of Thomas Botchford’s neighbors in Wawarsing or anywhere in Wawarsing in 1840 when I did a line-by-line search.

I found a Jerome Botsford born 1833 and his wife and son and a Thomas Botsford born 1826 living together in Wawarsing in 1855.<sup>10</sup> Jerome was a hotel keeper and Thomas a lumberman. They could be Thomas Botchford’s sons or grandsons. Botchford is a variation of Botsford. With Jerome and Thomas in Wawarsing in 1855, this could mean that Catherine’s potential father never left Wawarsing, and that Catherine and William met and married in Wawarsing before moving to Penn. I could not find Botsfords or any variation living in Wawarsing in 1850—but I did not do a line-by-line check for them. Only a search engine search. Thomas Botsford was in Napanoch, Town of Wawarsing in 1860 as the owner or manager of a “Mountain House”—one of the iconic summer hotels that were being established in the Catskills and Shawangunks during this period.<sup>11</sup>

As for Catherine born in Ellenville, it’s common to say the nearest village or city as the place of birth if someone was born in a more rural and less well-known location, such as Wawarsing.

Lakes near Wawarsing

I found a William Lake in the Town of Shawangunk, Ulster County.<sup>12</sup> This is about 20 miles up and over the Shawangunk Mountain range from Wawarsing. A Schuyler Lake was living in the Town of Wawarsing in 1840.<sup>13</sup> Schuyler Lake is worth pursuing to see if there is a connection to William Seeley Lake—but again, William and Catherine did not give the name Schuyler to any of their children so there may be no relation.

It's also possible that William was transient and came through Ellenville while working on the D&H canal. The D&H canal started on the Roundout Creek in Esopus, just south of Kingston, in Ulster County. The Roundout connected to the Hudson River at Kingston. The canal made its way southwestward through Ellenville to Port Jervis at the border of New York and Penn. From there it went to the area in Penn. where William and Catherine lived. Carbondale was connected to the D&H canal by the D&H Gravity Railroad.<sup>14</sup> It's main purpose was to transport coal from Penn. to New York City via the Hudson River. Passenger service on the D&H canal did not prove profitable, so few passenger canal boats were on this canal.

Clues from Children

While waiting for the death records, I did a little more research on William and Catherine's children. I found the marriage of son Arthur Lake in 1880 at the Providence United Methodist Church in Scranton,<sup>15</sup> the obituary of son Charles Lake from 1920,<sup>16</sup> and the death record for daughter Emeretta as Emma C. Carey in Scranton in 1921.<sup>17</sup> Emma's death record named her father as Nathan Lake and her mother as Catherine, both born in Penn. The informant was her niece, daughter of her sister Angeline. Emma was buried in Wyoming, Penn., about 14 miles southwest of Scranton in the Lackawanna River valley. See below for the obituary and death record.

Conclusions:

Despite Thomas Botchford's household not having a female of Catherine's age in 1830, I think this is Catherine's family. Two of her children reported that she was born in Ellenville, and this Botchford family is the only one there from 1820 to 1840 that fits the bill. (Note: A Bradford family was in Wawarsing too, but that doesn't match the surnames given on the death records for Catherine's children.) The five maiden names that were on her children's death records are all very similar with most starting with a B, three ending with "ford," and one actually has Botchford and another has Bosford—both variations of Botsford.

Because Jerome and Thomas Botsford were living in Wawarsing in 1855 and they were both born in Ulster County in 1833 and 1826, respectively, and had lived in Wawarsing their entire lives, it appears that Catherine was the one to move away with her new husband William rather than the whole family moving to Penn. It seems likely that Catherine and William were married in Ellenville or Wawarsing, perhaps in a Methodist church.

I recommend focusing on Ellenville and Wawarsing and the Botchford family there for clues to William's origins. It's possible that William was from another part of Ulster County—or even nearby Sullivan County--and worked on the canal.

- Deeds and mortgages for Susquehanna County. William owned his land in 1850. Who witnessed the deed?
- Botsford/Botchford family in Wawarsing. Who were they? Did the elder Thomas stay in Wawarsing or did he go to Penn. with his apparent daughter Catherine?
- Marriage for Catherine and William in Ellenville/Wawarsing churches.
- Deeds and mortgages for Ulster County, also Sullivan County
- Surrogate's court records for Ulster County for Lake and Botchford, also Sullivan County
- Middle names of William, Catherine, and children: William Seeley, Catherine Amanda, Mary Louisa, Frances Alwilda, John Wells, Angeline Amanda, Inez Delvin, Lucius Seeley, Percival Keen, Ralph Laten, Charles Merien. Seeley is the main clue. Check online trees: What Lake families have Seeley ancestors? Were the middle names from well-known Methodist preachers or family names?
- Contacting the owner of the Ancestry.com tree that has Catherine's maiden name as Braxton and that she was born in 1815 to see if she has any information—and why she has Braxton as the maiden name.
- Obituaries for all children and Jerome and Thomas Botsford. [Checked for some in this round of research]
- Portrait and biographical books and county histories for bios on the sons and sons-in-laws. Because some of the sons were involved in mining, it's possible they did not pay to have their bios included in these types of books.
- Prospect Cemetery, Peckville for interment records. Do they have a record for when Catherine died? Is there a local death record for her that gives her maiden name and place of birth? Sons Ralph and Charles were members of the Peckville United Methodist Church.
- Greene County, NY for Lakes families in 1810-1840. Are any of William's children's names the same as any from the Lake families there?
- Checking more people in the 1850 census to see who was born in NY, as possible clues to origins in NY.
